About National Gamekeepers’ Organisation:

The National Gamekeepers’ Organisation (NGO) is the representative body for gamekeepers in England and Wales. It defends and promotes gamekeeping, helps gamekeepers and ensures high standards throughout the profession. It began in 1997 and today has over 17,000 members. Its aim is "To promote, improve and protect gamekeeping in the United Kingdom, thereby securing a thriving long-term future for the profession."

Its objectives are:
1. To Represent Gamekeeping
   • To provide proper national representation of the gamekeeping profession
   • To be the first point of contact for outsiders seeking to approach the gamekeeping world
   • To raise the profile of gamekeeping and to increase public understanding of it
   • To promote the positive impact that gamekeeping can have on the countryside as a whole
   • To counter adverse publicity

2. To Assist Gamekeepers
   • To ensure that gamekeepers have the information they need
   • To help gamekeepers to assist one another
   • To help gamekeepers find jobs
   • To create better understanding on the part of the employers, guns and others
   • To provide legal assistance for gamekeepers, where appropriate
   • To provide third party insurance cover for members

3. To Ensure Quality Within The Profession
   • To improve the training available to prospective gamekeepers
   • To ensure that experienced keepers keep up to date with new developments
   • To uphold the Code of Good Shooting Practice, the Code of Good Game Rearing Practice and other relevant codes
   • To counter anything or anyone bringing the profession into disrepute

4. To Help Defend Field Sports
   • To assist with the defence of all field sports by ensuring that gamekeeping is of the highest quality and is properly represented

All these objectives are summed up in the organisation’s by-line:

Target market

Keeping The Balance reaches the notoriously hard to reach market of gamekeepers across the British Isles. No other publication can reach as many gamekeepers as Keeping The Balance. Members range from headkeepers of some of the most prestigious estates in the UK to part-time keepers.

On most shooting estates the keeper makes all of the buying decisions for the shoot, from feed to ATVs, and this is the perfect vehicle to place your products and brands in front of this high spending market.

In addition to this, the magazine is also sent to Supporter members who may be part-time keepers or, alternatively, active game shooters with a keen interest and passion in all things to do with shooting, protecting the sport and promoting gamekeeping.

As you would expect, the vast majority of the readership is male and rural based and typically aged 25+.
